Historical Attractions

The Historic Opera Theatre

The Historic Opera Theatre was built in 1914 for vaudeville acts. In 1994, the doors reopened for live stage productions. Original hardwood floors, wood banisters, stairs, seats, and fans grace the building, with a 130-year old upright piano providing background music. The Victorian Era building is a 'Grand Old Gal' with her own soul, and she promises a special experience with every visit. Community players provide family entertainment from June through August. Dinner includes salad, bread, beverage, steak or chicken, baked potato, vegetable, sauteed shrimp and mushrooms, and dessert. Show only and concessions are also available. The building is also available for private parties, weddings, dances, etc. 128 E. Idaho, (208)366-7408, www.glennsferrytheatre.org

World Wide Equine Horse Dentistry Museum

Find out why Glens Ferry is the international hot spot for equine dentists and is home to the forefather of equine dentistry. Come visit World Wide Equine's unique horse dental instrument museum, which houses what is probably the largest collection of antique horse dental instruments in the world. Also housed in the museum are an authentic veterinary wagon and a reproduction of a stagecoach along with other unique and odd horse-related items.

Located on the south side of the street at 91 W. 1st Avenue in the old Shrum Chevrolet Dealership building. Open Monday through Friday 7am-5pm. And because the museum was created out a love for the profession, admission is always FREE.

Museums

Glenns Ferry Historical Museum

Built in 1909 from sandstone blocks quarried across the Snake River and carried to the site by wagons and a barge, this building served as a school from 1909 to 1965. In 1987, the building gained a place upon the National Historical Register and was purchased by the City of Glenns Ferry to become a museum for the collection of items significant to the history, development and the lifestyles of the people from the Glenns Ferry, Hammett and King Hill areas. This area has been blessed with people of diversified interest due to the early Indian inhabitants, pioneers coming on the Oregon Trail and staying to develop the sheep and cattle industries here, the Oregon Short Line Railroad making Glenns Ferry a division point, and the King Hill Irrigation Project bringing early farming development. The museum is home to a collection of material from these significant diverse eras and industries as well as memorabilia from schools, households, and personal belongings.

There is no charge to visit the museum, however, donations are appreciated since that is the means of support by which we are able to continue renovating the building and further advancing the quality of the museum exhibits.

Museum hours: Saturdays and Sundays Noon-5 p.m., June 1st through September 30th, or by appointment.

Three Island Crossing State Park/Interpretive Center

Three Island Crossing State Park is located on the Snake River at Glenns Ferry. It is home to The Oregon Trail History and Education Center where visitors can learn about pioneer emigrants and Native American history. Oregon Trail pioneers knew this spot well: It was one of the most famous river crossings on the historic trail. Pioneer travelers used the Three Island Crossing until 1869, when Gus Glenn constructed a ferry about two miles upstream.
